

Born at the Right Time

Bridging the gap

Safeguarding Statement

Lived experience shapes our provision and practice, it is at the heart of everything that we do. We believe in the sanctity of the stories we share and the right to privacy of the individuals who entrust us with their experiences. Where we share stories and experiences, these are done with permission and only when in that person's best interest.

Rachel is both Born at the Right Time's Director, and our trained, safeguarding lead. She ensures that any safeguarding issues or concerns that result from the production and delivery of our resources, or discussions that flow from these are acted upon appropriately. Channels for reporting concerns, for all the Born at the Right Time team are in place.
